

Welcome from the Director

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the agencies and social workers that have agreed to play an important role in the education of future master's level social work professionals.

This manual serves as a guide for students, field instructors, and faculty in matters related to the field education curriculum. The contents of this manual will be periodically updated and revised and will be available in hard copy or via the Internet.

As a faculty, we are continually enhancing the educational environment, the transactions between the field and the classroom, the relationship between agency practitioners and the program, and the challenges experienced by MSW students.

We trust that you will find this manual helpful and would welcome any comments about the content that you might wish to make.

Sincerely,

Carol J. Williams
