Syllabus Information and Expectations

Thank you for your participation in the implementation of Simple Syllabus as a more efficient way to create and manage syllabi. Please provide additional feedback via this link so we may continue to refine and enhance Simple Syllabus to best support you and your students.

As you know, all syllabi are now required to be submitted via Simple Syllabus.

Summer Session II syllabi are due by Monday, June 27.

All Fall 2022 syllabi are due by Thursday, June 30 with final revisions/updates accepted until Monday, August 15.

To assist you with developing your syllabi for Fall 2022, please see this message from Jace Hargis, Ph.D., vice president for curriculum and faculty development, regarding optional support opportunities.

In preparation for the Fall semester, we have also expanded the Simple Syllabus at Kean website to offer more resources to help you learn how to best utilize the features of Simple Syllabus for you and your students.

As we move forward with our implementation of Canvas as our new Learning Management System, additional information will be provided regarding incorporating Simple Syllabus and will be available on the LMS Task Force website.

Please contact syllabus@kean.edu with any questions regarding Simple Syllabus.
