

Friday, March 17, 2023

9:00am - 4:00pm

Registration begins at 8:30am*

Location: Kean University
North Avenue Academic Bldg
6th Floor

3RD ANNUAL CONFERENCE BRIDGING THE GAP: TRANSLATING INTERPROFESSIONAL EDUCATION INTO CLINICAL PRACTICE TRAINING

An initiative of the Kean University Institute for Interprofessional Education (IIPE)

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE:

Interprofessional education provides students from different disciplines with opportunities to learn about, from and with each other. Interprofessional education prepares students to enter the workforce and collaborate effectively as a member of a healthcare team. A key step in moving health systems from fragmented operations to optimal efficiency, interprofessional education contributes to improved health care outcomes.

Academicians are critical to this process while students are enrolled in their academic programs, and clinical supervisors play a crucial role in helping the students apply what they have learned in the classroom into their practice. Clinical supervision education is vital to the success of supervisors, students, and clients.

Speakers will discuss the importance of interprofessional education and how training programs can enrich the preparation of preceptors who in turn, will improve the education of students and ultimately improve the quality of patient healthcare.

PRESENTERS WILL INCLUDE:

Nicole Lowy, Ed. D, LAT, ATC

Maryann P. Hobbie MA, MS, MTS

SPEAKERS WILL INCLUDE:

Panel: Fieldwork Coordinators from the university and community partners

Members from the Institute for Interprofessional Education

Professionals: $50 (Refreshments and lunch included)
Students: FREE ($10 lunch option)

Scan the code to register

KEAN

*Certification of participation will be provided for attendees to submit for professional CEUs
or professional development activity completion.*